

Nuclear Pride Changes to Work Within American Nuclear Society

NOGLSTP affiliate, Nuclear Pride, has changed its name to the Diversity and Inclusion Committee in the American Nuclear Society (ANS). The group has a new webpage: <http://committees.ans.org/diversity/> and a page on the main ANS website here: <http://committees.ans.org/diversity/> Merged with the women's committee of ANS, they are now an official standing committee within ANS. NOGLSTP member Lane Carasik is the chair of the committee. The committee is looking to provide travel money for ten diverse students per year to attend the ANS national meeting.

American Institute of Chemical Engineers Joins NOGLSTP as an Affiliate

The NOGLSTP Board of Directors welcomes the American Institute of Chemical Engineers (AIChE) as a new NOGLSTP affiliate caucus. Dr. Tony Butterfield and Dr. Alon McCormick are the regional representatives. The caucus has been organizing safe zone trainings. There is a LGBTQ forum on the AIChE website, and there will be a social on November 10 at the AIChE Annual Meeting in Orlando. The group is making a push to convey that AIChE is welcoming.

American Ornithological Society Recruits for a NOGLSTP Caucus

The American Ornithological Society (AOS) meeting in Anchorage, Alaska, at the end of June provided an informal LGBTQ+ social in hope of establishing a caucus with NOGLSTP. NOGLSTP member Eric Tobin staffed a table with NOGLSTP information and met with the AOS Diversity and Inclusion Committee to discuss the inception and role of the NOGLSTP caucus. Joining them was the executive director of AOS, Melinda Pruett-Jones, who was very excited and enthusiastic about the initiatives and the caucus. The D&I committee was enthusiastic about the formation of a group to represent the community, and "pending enthusiastic executive board approval," are adding a seat on the D&I committee for a representative from the caucus. They directly asked to partner with NOGLSTP to develop a website for the caucus and generally to help with the NOGLSTP mission. NOGLSTP looks forward to partnering with this caucus.
